July 2005

New senior clinical advisor for citymedicaldirect

Part of the healthpeople group, citymedicaldirect is delighted to welcome Sarah Zoutendijk as our new Senior Occupational Health Nursing Advisor. Sarah has years of experience in occupational health, working across a broad corporate client base as well as local government and the NHS.

Very recently returned from Australia and, prior to that, New Zealand, Sarah brings back with her some fresh new ideas to put into effect within the citymedicaldirect occupational health service.

"I was thrilled to be offered this position within the healthpeople group," Sarah commented. "The innovative online medical referral service provided by citymedicaldirect is an extremely effective tool for HR professionals, saving them a lot of time from the more traditional approach. And their practice in the City of London – citymedical – provides a wide range of occupational health and GP services which I'm looking forward to assisting with on occasions. Part of my role within citymedicaldirect is to act as the main contact for client's clinical problems, and to provide guidance on the setting up and running of on-site health surveillance tailored to the specific workplace environment.

"I'm really looking forward to meeting all of citymedicaldirect's clients and helping them run their occupational health service!" Sarah concludes.

Clients nationwide can call the Customer Support Team on 0845 123 5385 and ask to be put through to Sarah for advice. Those based in the south east will benefit from her on-site assistance if this is part of your service package.
